Utilities

Our firm has broad experience in all areas of public utility law and regulation, including electricity, natural gas, steam, telephone, cable, water, sewer, and transportation. Our clients include providers to utilities, traditional suppliers, competitive retail service providers, commercial and industrial consumers, telephone companies, and cable television providers.

Our attorneys have been active with respect to public utility-related issues in Congress, in the Ohio General Assembly, and at the local government level throughout Ohio. We have represented our clients' interests before regulatory agencies such as the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the U.S. Department of Transportation, and the Federal Communications Commission, and we have defended and prosecuted their interests in lawsuits in federal and state courts.
