Taxation

Our health care attorneys partner with our tax lawyers to provide federal, state, and local income tax counseling, sales and use tax exemptions, and tax-planning services for health care providers, especially tax-exempt health care organizations. We advise our clients on all organizational and operational aspects of obtaining and maintaining tax exemptions and public charity status, as well as planning for appropriate taxation of unrelated business activities and UBIT. Our lawyers also provide counsel about compliance with private foundation or intermediate sanctions rules, including structuring compensation arrangements to comply with the proposed intermediate sanctions regulations, and we prepare IRS exemption applications on behalf of our clients. We have assisted in obtaining property tax exemptions and in defending clients when property tax exemptions are threatened. Nonprofit clients often seek our assistance in administrative and judicial appeals related to their property tax-exempt status.
