Intellectual Property

We represent both defendants and plaintiffs in all kinds of intellectual property litigation. Our trial lawyers have vindicated and protected intellectual property rights and interests in courts throughout the country. In such matters, our trial lawyers often consult with our transactional intellectual property lawyers to maximize efficiency for our clients. Our attorneys have the experience to weigh the value of potential approaches to litigation and the sophistication to recognize, and avoid, aggressive tactics that may simply produce additional fees without significantly enhancing our clients' prospects of success. In addition, our litigators have broad experience in arbitrations, mediations, and other forms of alternative dispute resolution.

Our intellectual property litigation work includes the following matters:

- Successfully pursuing anti-counterfeiting actions on behalf of national, high-end retailers to remove counterfeit goods from the marketplace
- Obtaining the seizure by U.S. Marshals of computers used by a counterfeiter to market counterfeit goods made in China, and subsequently seizing assets of the counterfeiter for satisfaction of the judgment
- Successfully pursuing actions on behalf of an expanding family restaurant chain to clear the field of competitors using similar names
