Professional Liability and Discipline

We represent accountants, architects, attorneys, engineers, health care professionals, hospitals, and law firms in a broad range of professional liability actions. Our lawyers have defended such clients in lawsuits alleging malpractice, negligence, breach of contract, and other common law claims, as well as actions involving claims asserting violation of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO), the federal securities laws, and similar state laws. In addition, our attorneys represent accountants, attorneys, and health care professionals in licensing and professional disciplinary proceedings and in connection with SEC investigations.
