Career highlights include:

- Substantial jury trial experience in accounting negligence actions, medical malpractice actions and claims for workplace injury/toxic exposure
- Defending and obtaining a summary judgment, upheld on appeal, in a product liability action arising from an alleged in utero chemical/solvent workplace exposure resulting in complex chromosomal rearrangement/birth defects in a pregnant employee's offspring. See Kerns v. Hobart Brothers Company, (2nd Dist. 2008) No. 2007 CA-32, 2008-Ohio-2242, app. den. 2008-Ohio-5273.
- Defending and obtaining summary judgment in a claim of chemical exposure to N-hexane and methyl ethyl ketone (MEK) allegedly causing polyneuropathy and organic brain disease
- Substantial litigation experience in toxic tort matters, with particular skill in explaining complex scientific issues to judges and juries and in challenging dubious methodologies under Daubert (see Daubert v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, 509 U.S. 579 (1993) and Valentine v. Conrad, 110 Ohio St. 3d 42 (2006))
- Familiarity with many of the statistical and modeling approaches used by litigation experts and experienced in identifying flawed assumptions that may underlie such analyses
