

HEALTH CARE SERVICES

Our attorneys have considerable experience representing hospitals and health care providers in intellectual property matters. Whether it is a hospital affiliate with a university, a system of hospital and health care facilities, or one stand alone facility, we have represented the intellectual property interest of many health care institutions for decades.

We have provided legal advice in areas from drafting and implementing IP policies, to guiding clients through the complexities of naming rights; from copyright protection for many materials, software and other copyrightable works, to trademark strategic planning – from infringements, oppositions and other intellectual property litigation, to licensing; from fostering and protecting inventions through patents, to clinical trial and sponsored research agreements. We have worked with clients to protect developing products, publications, software, programs, marketable ideas, collaborations and consortiums and to police and protect against trademark infringement, and dilution, copyright infringement, patent infringers and “trolls”.

We believe in a proactive approach to our client’s intellectual property needs and provide educational seminars to assist our clients in maximizing protection for their creative and innovative endeavors.
