We have built decades-long relationships with our clients by ensuring responsiveness and providing pragmatic, customized service at the highest levels.

Notably, Vorys has advised clients on traditional labor and management relations matters since the early 1930s, when New Deal statutes created federal collective bargaining rights for employees. Today, our labor lawyers represent union and nonunion employers in addressing the full breadth of issues related to collective bargaining.

Our nationally recognized employee benefits group advises a range of clients, including retailers, manufacturers and logistics companies. Our benefits attorneys have:

- Handled more than 250 welfare benefit plans
- Drafted over 130 qualified retirement plans
- Reviewed documents for more than 100 pre-approved qualified retirement plans to ensure that amendments were drafted correctly
- Drafted 25 employee stock ownership plans (ESPOs)
- Advised clients across industries, with deep experience in the retail, manufacturing and logistics sectors

We also have led dozens of internal investigations throughout the U.S. and internationally, and have been called upon to handle civil and criminal government investigations for employers. We regularly conduct pre-litigation investigations, both as neutral investigators and
