Who We Represent

We provide comprehensive legal counsel to manufacturers of an array of consumer products and goods, from apparel to automobiles to chemicals to pharmaceuticals.

Our clients include:

- more than 600 middle-market and global consumer brands
- major automotive manufacturers and suppliers
- global leaders in industrial metals manufacturing

Our 360-Degree Approach

No matter their size or sector, manufacturers share common challenges: global competition, international sourcing customs requirements and supply chain issues, cost containment, labor relations, workplace safety, intellectual property infringements and product liability claims, among others. We understand manufacturers also may face industry-specific hurdles, such as environmental and regulatory issues that require tailored experience to navigate those obstacles.

Our ranks include dozens of attorneys who have worked inside legal departments and understand the full spectrum of issues surrounding the life cycle of product development, manufacturing and brand protection. We work as a team across practices and offices to keep abreast of changes in the law and developing trends impacting various industries, and we provide practical counsel and innovative solutions to arm our clients with the tools they need to thrive in the manufacturing business.

What We Do

We represent manufacturers in the gamut of legal and regulatory matters, from negotiating multibillion-dollar investments in the construction of factories to serving as national counsel in bet-the-company and product liability class action litigation, and developing strategies to overcome evolving regulatory hurdles.

Corporate and Business Operations

We represent clients in all areas of corporate law and through all phases of corporate transactions. We also serve as general counsel to a range of clients, including manufacturers.

Our key service areas include:

We help clients manage governance and compliance costs and minimize enforcement risks, and provide ongoing counsel on fiduciary duties under state law. Employment, Labor Relations and Immigration

Vorys' nationally recognized labor and employment practice represents employers in the full spectrum of labor and employment matters, from advising on day-to-day labor and employment issues to serving as national counsel in high-stakes class action litigation and leading internal and government investigations.

Many of our labor and employment attorneys have worked inside corporate legal departments and intimately understand how procedures, policies and personnel management impact businesses' global operations. We counsel clients on the complete scope of employment law matters, as well as craft, implement and train management on policies designed to minimize potential employer liability.

To help our national manufacturer clients navigate the ever-changing rules associated with the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), we publish the FLSA Guide for Manufacturers, a 50-state survey of labor and employment laws.

Notably, Vorys has advised clients on traditional labor and management relations matters since the early 1930s, when New Deal statutes created federal collective bargaining rights for employees. Today, our labor lawyers represent union and nonunion employers in addressing the full breadth of issues related to collective bargaining.

We have particularly deep experience advising on issues that have long been a focus of the manufacturing industry, including:

- counseling our clients during union organizing campaigns
- advising on union picketing, strike and collective bargaining issues
- developing programs and policies that comply with federal and state regulation of hiring, promotion, layoffs, wage and hour, and workplace safety
- creating and administering retirement, savings and health care plans
- defending our clients in workers' compensation litigation and employment-related lawsuits

Our lawyers also counsel clients on the highly complex area of immigration, nationality and employer sanctions (I-9) law. We focus on securing employment-based immigrant and nonimmigrant visas for our clients' global workforces and advise on immigration-related employment issues, such as employment eligibility, verification and recordkeeping requirements. We also help clients establish new compliance programs, assess the effectiveness of existing compliance programs and advise on critical improvements.

Vorys' labor and employment practice has consistently earned national and state recognition in the areas of "Employment and Labor Law Management" and "Labor and Employment Litigation" in the U.S. News – Best Lawyers® "Best Law Firms" report, and has a long-standing ranking in Ohio in the prestigious Chambers USA guide.

Workplace Safety

Vorys assists employers in navigating the laws that regulate the work environment, employee leave requests and demands for accommodation of disability. Our lawyers also are adept at developing strategies for containing workers' compensation liability.

- Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)

When it comes to business, success means prioritizing growth and using an organization’s assets to maximize opportunities. We understand that a company’s IP assets can drive and support that growth if they are procured and managed in alignment with the company’s business goals.

The project is expected to create 3,000 jobs initially, 7,000 construction jobs over the course of the build and tens of thousands of additional long-term jobs across a broad ecosystem of suppliers and partners.

We work across practices to advise on matters involving:
